The above statistics show no marked change in the schools during the year 1945-1946. There was an increase of about fourteen in the average membership, the percent of attendance is too low and tardiness is too high especially at Hopkinton Primary where the average reaches 5 per pupil.

At the present writing, January 1947, the most important change has been the abrupt jump in the cost of living. For teachers working on a fixed salary it has been difficult to meet expenses. In many parts of the United States teachers strikes have closed the schools for several weeks. In other districts in New Hampshire special meetings of the district have been or will be held for the purpose of raising money to pay a bonus for the current year. Our Hopkinton teachers, however, have neither struck nor even presented a request for a bonus. They feel confident that the voters of the district know the conditions and will take measures at the district meeting in March to alleviate the situation. In other districts of this Supervisory Union teachers have presented a request for $300. bonus. On account of the greatly increased cost of living and the acute shortage of teachers there will be a considerable increase in teachers salaries for the coming year. It is expected that the few beginners who graduate at the teachers' colleges in New Hampshire this year will receive at least $1800. each. In order to meet the rising costs of education in every district where the tax rate is already high it is proposed that the amount of State Aid be increased. A bill has already been introduced into the Legislature for this purpose. Under the plan outlined by Commissioner Fuller, Hopkinton would receive about $8500. Under the plan recommended by the Interim Commission the district would receive more. Every voter in the district who is interested in the program of education should use his influence toward the passage of a law embodying one of these plans.

A new era in education is now opening. To meet the demands of the people for the education of their children and pay teachers sufficient salaries to induce young people to prepare for that profession a broader basis for taxation must be arranged. This may be on both a national and state wide plan for aid in meeting cost of current expenses and a new school building and facilities.

Some school districts have met the challenge by uniting with other districts and pooling their resources. Plans of this nature are already being considered in this state. In middle and western states it is a common practice. Hopkinton people might well consider the advantages of joining with some other districts of this Supervisory Union in building a large central unit for the pupils of at least three districts. Tradition, however, is very strong in New England. It is likely that most districts will continue to operate as small units.

In closing we wish to thank the people of the district and the school board for their excellent cooperation.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT

The enrollment for the school year of 1946-47 is 64 pupils in the High School and 46 pupils in the Junior High School. This is an increase of 18 pupils over last year's enrollment. It seems reasonable to expect that the enrollment will continue to increase as restrictions on housing construction are removed. Certainly this tendency must be taken into consideration in the planning of the future educational program of the community.

In the past few years the High School has been very fortunate in replacing teachers. Mrs. French did not return this fall, but her place was taken by Mr. Elson Herrick, an able and experienced teacher. Some adjustments will have to be made in salary schedules this coming year. There is a dangerous shortage of teachers, and very few people are entering the Teacher Training Institutions because of the low salary schedules now prevailing. Beginning teachers will be able to ask for and receive larger salaries than most experienced teachers are now getting. This situation is true all over the country, and I am afraid that communities that do not face this situation realistically will be looking for teachers next September and paying high salaries for almost anyone they can get.

I think that last year's Hot Lunch Program was a success. The people of the community are able to judge that better than I. This year we are serving an average of 150 people a meal at the High School and an average of 50 at the Hopkinton Village School. This puts a terrific burden on the High School facilities, and yet the program is so worth while, that I do not feel that it should be cut down in any way. In extremely bad weather, we are planning to serve meals at the Contoocook Grammar School (this has already been done). This, of course, further disrupts the High School program.

Some idea of the size of the program may be gained by giving a few figures. The cost of food and labor alone for the month of December, 1946, (only 15 meals) was nearly $650. It takes two bushels of potatoes when we serve mashed potatoes as a part of the meal. For another meal 21 lbs. of macaroni were cooked, and only one cup of cooked macaroni was left over at the end of the meal. Most of the children have second servings, and many have three and even four servings. In spite of this and the increased cost of food, we are charging the same amount as last year, and in the case of some families, we are charging less than last year. The two Women's Clubs, The Red Cross, and the two Granges have already given us financial assistance, or have voted to do so, and we hope that other organizations will also help. One of the biggest helps that we could possibly have would be for some organization to have a canning project during the coming summer and fall. This past fall the High School girls canned over 1100 cans of food, but even this large number was very small in comparison to the amount we will use during the school year.

The School Board has been most helpful and because they were willing to spend some money for equipment for Hot Lunch, we have a large 32 cubic ft. electric refrigerator at the High School and a 9 ft. one at the Hopkinton Village School. Federal funds were made available, and instead of paying $550, we received over $800 worth of equipment at no cost to the town.

Another board that I know spent $100 and was reimbursed only $100. More of these federal funds will be available, but on a fifty-fifty basis. A report on the Hot Lunch would not be complete without giving due credit to Mrs. Evelyn Rice, Mrs. Elsie Straw, and Mrs. Mary Shurtleff for the planning and the preparation of the meals. All the teachers in the town have cooperated very well, and special mention should be given to "Ma" George who has contributed her services four days a week since the program started. Others too numerous to mention have helped out in one way or another.

We have a variety of extra-curricular activities. Perhaps I should use the word co-curricular activities, because they play an essential part in the development of a well rounded individual. Some of these are familiar activities such as; sports, dramatics, music, and other student organizations. Newer ones are the school paper, and the Forum. The purpose of the Forum is to give the pupils and adult members of the community an opportunity to discuss intelligently some of the problems of the world in which we live. There are still other activities, sometimes not considered a part of the school program, but actually a vital part of the educational program of the community. The School Board, in cooperation with the Veterans' Administration, is conducting a Veterans' Training Program in Agriculture with Mr. Babson as teacher. The Red Cross has sponsored a Home Nursing course in the High School and a Water Safety Program, a Dental Clinic in cooperation with the Public Health Association. It is planned to have Dental Clinics every Wednesday until all the children in the school have been taken care of. Several children have had tonsillectomies, and one child has had glasses provided for her; these also have been done by the Red Cross who have been most cooperative with the school.

During the past fifty years more and more tasks that were formerly performed by the home have been transferred to the school. No longer is the school a place where the child learns only the three R's. He must be taught the fundamentals of course. In addition to these, however, the school is held responsible for his health training, vocational training, prevention of juvenile delinquency, preparation for citizenship, and the solution of any problem that may confront the child. In other words, the school is expected to produce a well adjusted, well rounded individual who will take his proper place in the complex society of which he will become a vital part. Not only is the school held responsible for the education of the child, but more and more it is expected to carry on a program of adult education as well.

I believe that the function of the schools will continue to expand, and yet the schools are expected to carry on these additional tasks in school plants that were built to carry on a much more limited service. It would seem ridiculous to ask a traveling salesman to carry on his work without modern equipment. Yet that is exactly what we do, when for example, we ask the school to serve hot lunches from a room that was built to take care of ten or twelve girls in a Home Economics class. Our most valuable possession is our children, and yet we forget that their educational needs are different from those which we had. In order to meet these expanding needs, we must have an expanding school plant. Can we afford not to give them the best school plant possible?

There is one thing that I wish more and more people of the community would do. If they have any problem regarding school, I wish they would come and talk that problem over with me. That is a part of my work in the community, and it can and should be an important part. As in the past I have enjoyed my work in the community very much and appreciate the cooperation I have received from my fellow workers, the School Board, Superintendent, and members of the community. May we continue to work together for a better school.
